Founded August 4, 1790 to protect America's Maritime existence the U.S. Coast Guard, America's oldest sea-going military organization, is still on the job, still protecting our sea-borne commerce,

With America at war the Coast Guard has taken on many added responsibilities such as the protection of American Shipping against submarine attack, and the patrolling of America's many thousands of miles of shoreline against invasion.

In addition to its wartime responsibilities the Coast Guard, since it is the Federal Maritime Policing Agency, must also operate and maintain all aids to Marine Navigation, save life and property at sea, enforce all maritime law.

ON THE JOB. ARE YOU? ENLIST NOW.

Organizationally the Coast Guard is similar to the Navy; its ranks and ratings are the same, as are its uniforms. The distinguishing mark of a coastguardsman being the Coast Guard Shield worn several inches above the wrist on the right sleeve.

Due to its many added war-time responsibilities the Coast Guard is greatly expanding its forces, and men enlisting now can progress rapidly through hard conscientious work. In order that its men may win promotion the Coast Guard urges its men to study one or more of some 25 different trades and professions used in different departments of the Coast Guard and also usable as profitable civilian occupations. Courses in these various trades and professions are furnished to the man free of charge through the Coast Guard's Comprehensive Educational System.

An enlistment in addition to providing the means of your serving America, also means the opportunity to better yourself both physically and mentally, the opportunity to advance into responsible well paid jobs, excitement and travel.

Do your part in the American War Effort by enlisting in the U.S. Coast Guard NOW! Don't Wait -
